REPORT ON LABOR.

Three hundred and fifty families of the striking cloakmakers are said to be in a starving condition. There was not even a loaf of bread in the little depot even a loaf of bread in the little depot at 112 Ludlow street when a reporter this morning and found Delegate George W. Jones of the Central Labor Union, wrapping up a tumblerful of ground coffee in each of a hundred small paper bags.

"Coffee is all I have here," said Mr. Jones. "There is not a loaf of bread, and I have no money with which to purchase supplies.

"I was almost mobbed this morning by 350 men, women and children of the strikers," families who clamored for bread and who had an idea that I had money to buy supplies, but I soon convinced them to the contrary. I expect some money from the Relief Committee of the labor unions. All contributions are to come here direct, and I will disastrous effect upon some trades, the number of those employed falling off considerably.
